

Double-Acting Baking Powder

Rumford, the leading orthophosphate baking powder in the United States today, was the first calcium phosphate baking powder, patented in 1859. Hulman & Company, the manufacturer of Clabber Girl, acquired Rumford Chemical Works of East Providence, RI, in 1950. Its popularity is partly due to the fact that the corn starch used in its manufacturing is from non-genetically modified corn, making it a more healthy choice.

Experts On Hand To Serve You

Our baking experts are available to develop special leavening agents or to formulate and test recipes for your kitchen.

Aluminum Free

Rumford Baking Powder gets its popularity and status as a healthier brand from the main component monocalcium phosphate and the lack of sodium aluminium sulfate.

Ingredients

Rumford Baking Powder contains monocalcium phosphate, sodium bicarbonate (baking soda) and food grade cornstarch made from non-genetically modified corn.

Leavening Action

Leavening CO₂ is released by the reaction of the sodium bicarbonate with monocalcium phosphate in the presence of moisture. About 60% is released at batter temperature, and the rest is released in the oven.

Storage

Store in a cool, dry place and keep container tightly closed. Heat and moisture are harmful and should be avoided.
